Tracking Chinese Influence in Asia and the Pacific

Project Title	Tracking Chinese Influence in Asia and the Pacific
Project Summary	Opportunity to Work on A Top USG Priority - Analyze social media and news summaries from publicly available sources to spot trends, engagements and Chinese influence across the East Asia and Pacific region; produce a tracker and report on Chinese-government activities in the region.
Country	Fiji

Project Description

As Beijing's actions increasingly threaten American interests, economy, security and values, it is critical that we identify and counter malign behavior where it exists. Interns interested in better understanding the nature of China's ambitions and activities can play a critical role in countering PRC malign behavior by researching publicly available sources, identifying actions (travel, social media, statements, engagements) of government officials, companies, institutions and private citizens, creating a tracker, and contributing to report that can be used to help policy makers shape decisions.

Required Skills or Interests

Skill(s)
Analytical writing
Data analysis
Editing and proofreading
Political Analysis
Research
Social media management
Survey / polling design
Writing

Additional Information

None

Language Requirements

Language	Speaking Proficiency	Reading Proficiency	yImportance
Chinese-Mandarin	Elementary proficiency	Elementary proficiency	Nice to Have